In addition, the complex task of managing and tracking user licenses and any issues associated with compliance are eliminated with the iGrafx Cloud. There's simply no need to leverage internal IT resources - you just provide your user information and let iGrafx do the rest.

Global Productivity

Businesses today have an increasing number of widely dispersed employees with the need to leverage centralized data. The iGrafx Cloud gives you access from anywhere, anytime, allowing for ease of collaboration and increased efficiency.

Optimized ROI

The iGrafx Cloud allows you to avoid large upfront capital expenditures with a simple all-inclusive subscription fee that allows you to pay as you go.

Supporting users internally can be an extremely expensive exercise, but with the iGrafx Cloud, there's no need for IT to be trained on iGrafx solutions or spend time supporting end users. Subscribers can contact iGrafx support directly with issues or questions, freeing up your internal IT resources to work on more strategic projects.

In addition, there's no need to worry about server hardware administration or maintenance, managing backups and restorations, or application and database configuration.
